

a weird but helpful way to think about putting evidence into a section of a report

